

The Social & Political Philosophy Working Group

Spring 2015 Call for Abstracts

Submission Deadline: January 31, 2015

The CUNY Social and Political Philosophy Working Group (SPP) serves as a forum for the discussion of works-in-progress from diverse approaches in any area of social and political philosophy or applied ethics, broadly construed. We strive to build a community of scholars in a constructive, supportive environment for the development and improvement of our research and scholarship. SPP welcomes students and faculty the Graduate Center and other universities for informal monthly workshops, and the occasional special event.

If you would like to offer a paper-in-progress for discussion at a Spring 2015 SPP workshop, please submit an abstract (no more than 500 words) to cunysppworkshop@gmail.com by January 31, 2015. If we have more submissions than available workshop spaces, we will prioritize submissions based on diversity of approach and overlap with recent workshops. Submissions for Spring 2015 will automatically be considered for workshops in future semesters.

Please visit our website for more details: <http://sppgroup.commonsgc.cuny.edu>